Dear Minister,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the high-level Country Leadership Roundtable: Delivering Action for the Future of Food Systems, being held virtually on 1 July. To accommodate participants worldwide, there will be one session from 9.00 to 11.00 CEST and one from 15.00 to 17.00 CEST.

The World Economic Forum, the Food Action Alliance and key partners are convening this high-level public-private leadership gathering to support country dialogues and action agendas in the run-up to the United Nations Food Systems Summit, which UN Secretary-General António Guterres will convene in September as part of the Decade of Action to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by 2030.

The meeting will aim to mobilize the championing of regional and national food system initiatives, leveraging platforms that support a food system transformation agenda. Participants, including heads of state, ministers, chief executives and senior executives, and heads of civil society and farmer organizations from Africa, Asia, Europe and the Americas, will focus on galvanizing collective action to support countries.

I believe your active engagement in the meeting will be essential to advancing country and regional priorities and to driving leadership engagement in the lead up to the Food Systems Summit and other key milestones in 2021. The Forum will contact your office to ensure that this engagement is of maximum value for you and country.

I look forward to your valuable leadership in the global effort to strengthen food systems.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Minister,

It is our pleasure to invite you to join the World Economic Forum's meeting on Fostering a Green Recovery in Eurasia as a special contributor. The meeting will take place on 7 October from 14.00 to 15.00 CEST.

As economies pick up in Eurasia, it is crucial to ensure a sustainable and inclusive recovery by building greener and more climate-resilient economies – in line with commitments to net-zero emissions.

During this interactive conversation bringing together policy-makers, chief executives and senior executives, as well as other decision-makers from the region, participants will discuss how public-private cooperation can contribute to leveraging financing for green investment and to fostering green tech for growth in Eurasia.

Your perspectives on the partnerships required to harness the green recovery will be invaluable to the discussion. We hope you will join this important dialogue.

Dear Minister, Dear Sigrid,

It is my great pleasure to invite you to share your perspectives during an upcoming session of the World Economic Forum's Agenda Dialogues taking place on 20 September from 14.30 to 15.30 CEST under the theme Shaping an Equitable, Inclusive and Sustainable Recovery. This session will serve as the global opening of the World Economic Forum Sustainable Development Impact Summit 2021 being held virtually from 20 to 23 September 2021 alongside the United Nations General Assembly.

Broadcast live to the Forum's global audience of over 20 million social media followers, the Agenda Dialogues bring together chief executives from the Forum's global business community, senior government leaders, and the foremost experts to set the agenda to tackle the challenges of the pandemic and to build a more inclusive, cohesive and sustainable future.

In 2020, for the first time, the world retreated in its progress on achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). With less than a decade to meet the SDGs, your leadership and presence will be integral to the successful mobilization of key stakeholders to achieve them and the Paris Agreement. The Forum will work closely with your office to ensure that this engagement is of maximum value to you and the Netherlands.

I look forward to engaging you in this effort and, hopefully, welcoming you to the session on 20 September.

Yours sincerely,

On the agenda:

Growth engines for the post-Covid era in the Middle East and North Africa

Technology start-ups in the Middle East and North Africa have raised more than 1$ billion in 2020, with most of the deals made in the healthcare, fintech and e-commerce sectors. These have been a boon to governments' efforts to forge ahead in reducing the region's dependence on hydrocarbons, which still accounts for 40% of regional economic activity, and to bolster home-grown innovation.

On which key areas should leaders focus their efforts over the next year, particularly concerning the domains of technology and digitalization, to engender a step-change in the Middle East and North Africa's competitiveness?

Special Contributors

Introduced by

- Børge Brende, President, World Economic Forum

Dear Minister,

Congratulations on your appointment as State Secretary for Infrastructure and Water Management. We wish you much success in your new post and look forward to continuing the close relationship between the World Economic Forum and your ministry.

In view of the leading role of the Netherlands in and its continued support of the circular economy agenda on the global stage, and further to your government's successful hosting of the World Circular Economy Forum (WCEF) + Climate event in April 2021, it is our great pleasure to invite you to share your perspectives in the Powering the Circular Industry Transition session at the World Circular Economy Forum 2021 – Canada event. This livestreamed Accelerator session, hosted by the World Economic Forum and affiliated with the official WCEF 2021 programme, will take place on 15 September 2021 from 10.30 to 11.30 CEST.

Building on the important work initiated at WCEF+Climate, the session will serve as an opportunity to continue to foster political momentum behind this agenda on the road to the 26th Conference of the Parties (COP26) to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC), with a focus on heavy industry sectors – including the built environment and transportation – in collaboration with the Forum's Mission Possible Partnership, Net-Zero Carbon Cities and Circular Cars initiatives.
